Bricker Is Opposed To Standby Controls

TRUCE URGED ON POLITICS BY O'MAHONEY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—(P)—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) contended in the senate today that congress ought to keep for itself the right to decide when and if wage and price controls are needed. He argued against granting that power to President Truman as proposed in pending economic controls legislation.

To give wage-price powers to the President, he said, would create two dangers:

First, a piecemeal approach would create inequities faster than they could be corrected.

Second, the President would be subject to tremendous pressure to control certain commodities, and having started a piecemeal system, he would be powerless to stop general price and wage controls even if he should feel they were premature.

The senate returned to debate on the bill after a week-end exchange of Republican-Democratic charges of playing politics with home front mobilization.

Two Republican lawmakers assailed the Truman administration's handling of the program. Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), talking with reporters, called in reply for "a truce on partisan politics."

"I think this is a very poor time for anyone Democrats or Republicans to challenge the motives of those who are called upon to make the extremely difficult decisions required," O'Mahoney declared.

"This of all times is a time for a truce on partisan politics, for partisan attacks are wholly uncalled for and only serve to weaken the program," he said.

O'Mahoney was replying to week-end attacks on the administration by Senators Aiken (R-Vt.) and Martin (R-Pa.).

Aiken pressed easy senate passage late this week of a house-approved bill which would set up authority for wage-price rationing curbs, but he said that President Truman needed "for political reasons" to ask congress for those controls.

Truman did ask for immediate power to allocate material, set up priorities and curb credit. See CONTROLS, Page 5

Ford Workers Threaten Strike Unless Pay Hiked

DETROIT, Aug. 14—(P)—Under threat of future strike action, the Ford Motor Company today studied a request from the CIO United Auto Workers that the present contract be reopened and wages hiked immediately.

The UAW represents 115,000 Ford production workers across the nation.

Unless the demands are met, the general council of Ford's 60,000-member UAW Local 600 in Detroit is approving strike action for Jan. 2, 1951. The present contract expires Jan. 1.

The contract now in force bars any review of wages before the expiration date. But Ken Bannan, UAW Ford director, declared the contract provides for a reopening on wages if both parties agree.

The union contends that "the spiraling cost of living" justifies a wage increase at this time.

Bannan said wage increases this year by competitors General Motors and Chrysler "have resulted in inequities in the rates paid to Ford workers and workers in other plants on comparable classifications of work."

Local 600 first demanded a wage review 10 days ago. The company rejected the request, pointing out that the contract did not permit a reopening and that the contract was on a nation-wide basis for its production workers. The second UAW demand, in behalf of all of Ford's production workers, followed.

GOP Blast Ruins Unity On Foreign Relations Group

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—(P)—Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) accused Republican members of his senate foreign relations committee today of "political petting" in contending that administrative policies invited the Communist attack on South Korea.

"A palpably political statement x x x intended to influence the coming elections," Connally said of a charge by four Republican members Sunday that the Truman administration virtually had invited Russia "to grab whatever it could in China, Korea and Formosa."

The statement was signed by Senators Wiley (R-Wisconsin), H. Alexander Smith (R-New Jersey), Hickenlooper (Iowa) and Lodge (Massachusetts). It had the endorsement in principle of Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, the other Republican members of the committee, Vandenberg, long the chief GOP advocate of bipartisan foreign policy, is in and did not sign the statement.

The issuance split wide open the foreign relations committee which frequently in recent years has agreed unanimously on major or foreign policy issues.

The Republicans asserted that administration Far Eastern policy "consistently temporized with and capitulated to the ruthless demands of the Communists, dominated by Moscow." It added:

"Under it, the Kremlin was, in effect given a green light to grab whatever it could in China, Korea and Formosa. This was never a bi-partisan policy. It was solely an administration policy."

Connally retorted in a statement dictated to reporters that the Republican committee members had "issued a plain and palpable political statement on foreign policy—it is a document plainly intended to influence the coming elections."

Admitted Slayer Moved To Safety

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 14—(P)—An ex-convict who admitted killing two little girls and their father was removed today from a small South Carolina jail, where a huge crowd had gathered, and taken into Georgia.

Curtis Shedd, 30, was placed in jail here. The Georgia Highway Patrol said its officers had removed Shedd from Wallhalla, S. C., where a crowd of between 5,000 and 4,000 had clustered Sunday night.

Fifty National Guardsmen were sent into Wallhalla when the crowd began to swell. They surrounded the jail and everything remained orderly. The crowd soon dwindled.

The crowd began gathering after Georgia Bureau of Investigation Agent Woody Wilson announced that Shedd had admitted slaying John Boyter, 38, of Wallhalla and his two daughters, Johnnie May.

European Army Action Is Urged

STRASBOURG, France, Aug. 14—(P)—Constantin Tsaldaris formally proposed today that Western European governments begin immediate negotiations for a unified army.

He asked the European Council's consultative assembly to entrust its President, Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgium, with carrying out the first preliminary steps.

Tsaldaris, former Greek premier, urged the assembly to "start the machinery in motion" for creation of the unified army, which he said would be headed by Winston Churchill before the assembly last Friday. Spaak endorsed the plan and the assembly speedily approved it.

Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister, had warned there is "not a day to lose" for Western Europe to arm itself against Soviet aggression.

Price Daniel Opens Fight On O'Mahoney Plan

By TEX EASLEY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—(P)—Legislation designed to avoid an interruption of oil operations on land under the marginal seas ran into the usual state vs. federal dispute today before the senate interior committee.

Hardly had Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) called his group into session before it became evident that sharp differences prevailed.

O'Mahoney's plan is to give the interior department control over oil well drilling in the so-called tidelands pending settlement of the federal-state dispute over who owns them.

Lined up on one side were federal officials represented at the hearing by Solicitor, Martin G. White of the interior department, and on the other side were representatives of the three states most concerned—Texas, Louisiana and California, were on hand to oppose the measure.

First witness for the opposition was Texas Attorney General Price Daniel. He urged the resolution be rewritten to provide for continued state control and operation of the disputed lands on a temporary basis.

White told the committee that the Korean war is causing a sharp

Government Says Convicted Reds Should Be Jailed

NEW YORK, Aug. 14—(P)—The government charged today that the 11 convicted Communist leaders are backing Communist forces in Korea and elsewhere, and thus should not be at large in this hour of national crisis.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol made public the government's affidavit in support of its move to have the "American traitor" members—now free on bail—jailed while their appeals are being considered by the courts.

All have been found guilty of criminal offenses and sentences to prison terms up to five years.

Saypol accompanied his affidavit with photographs of recent articles in the Daily Worker, a Communist newspaper, assailing the United Nations action in Korea and denouncing "American war-makers."

The Daily Worker propaganda line since the Korean fighting began, the affidavit said, "justifies the conclusion that, with the welfare and security of the United States and its armed forces at stake, applicants' loyalty to the Communist forces in Korea and throughout the world is undivided and unquestioned."

Saypol said the party leaders "are continuing to publish the same course of conduct which led to their conviction" and "they should not be at large in this hour of national crisis."

The defendants must show cause in federal court here next Thursday why they should not go to jail at once.

Committee Asks Court To Change Voting Precincts

A renewed appeal for an improved and streamlined voting system in Navarro county was voiced before the Commissioners' Court Monday by Rex Peterson, outgoing Democratic chairman.

A two-year-old request for precinct consolidations was brought before the court again, and County Judge Joe D. Huffstutter—with the commissioners' approval—set August 29 as a date for studying the proposal.

Proposing 38 voting precincts instead of the present 46, Peterson declared that election expenses are going up. "We've been paying $3 or $4 a vote in some precincts," he said.

To save the entire Democratic executive committee requested the Commissioners' Court to form 38 voting precincts. Peterson declared, "But for some reason or other the court didn't act on it."

He added that it was the party's desire to carry out elections as cheaply as possible.

"Our main interest is to improve the voting system of Navarro county," he concluded.

The idea in mind is to consolidate some of the precincts and thereby enumerate excessive costs and inefficiencies that arise in the very small voting precincts.

Improved road conditions and better methods of travel make such changes possible now-a-days, the court formally accepted the bid of E. W. Hable and Sons.

No Immediate Requests Due For Military Funds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—(P)—Congressional leaders said after a talk with President Truman today that they do not anticipate any immediate requests for still more military funds.

They made it clear, however, that this did not rule out the possibility of further requests.

Since the Korean war began, Truman has asked about $16,500,000,000 of additional defense funds.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) told reporters he hopes the house can act next week on some $14,000,000,000 of military appropriations, including the $4,000,000,000 asked for arms aid to allies in Europe elsewhere.

The Democratic "Big Four"—Rayburn, Vice President Barkley, Senate Leader Lucas (Ill.) and House Leader McCormack (Mass)—talked with the president for an hour.

They said the discussion was devoted largely to the tax and economic controls measures.

They predicted the senate will be ready to take up the tax bill next week. The senate's finance committee is putting together a bill aimed at raising at least $5,000,000,000 more government revenue through higher taxes on both individuals and business firms.

Lucas said he thought the senate could finish with the pending economic controls bill this week.

The $16,500,000,000 of defense spending asked since the Korean war has run total arms-military requests over the $30,000,000,000 mark.

That was on top of earlier defense spending requests of about $14,500,000,000 already tentatively approved.

Dr. Everett Quits Trinity

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14—(P)—Dr. Monroe G. Everett has resigned as president of Trinity University and his resignation has been accepted by the board of trustees, the University announced today.

Dr. Everett, board chairman, said Dr. Everett had stipulated in July, 1942, when he took the presidency, that he would wish to retire in 1950 at the age of 65.

"It is with the greatest reluctance that the executive committee grants Dr. Everett's request," Small said.

Trustees elected Dean Bruce Thomas to the office of acting president until the election of a permanent president.

St. Louis Bus Strike Is Ended

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14—(P)—St. Louis bus drivers and street car operators ended their three-day strike early today. Acting Mayor Charles E. Albanese announced the men decided to return unconditionally to their jobs.

The service company said it expected to be in full operation by early morning.

UNDERWATER BRIDGES ARE BUILT BY NORTH KOREANS TO GET ARMOR OVER RIVER

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 15—(P)—Thrusting underwater bridges across the Nakdong River, the North Korean Reds proved today for an imminent drive on Taegu by an estimated 60,000 men on this Fifth Anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan.

A summary issued early today by General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters placed the threat near Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, main forward American base on the central front of South Korea.

There, it said, the Reds were believed to have completed a second underwater bridge. Such stone and log crossings are sunk about a foot below the surface to escape detection from the air.

Twenty-three miles south of Taegu, the American 24th Infantry Division counterattacked and showed the Reds Fourth Division back 1,000 yards to a mile.

MacArthur's summary, however, was around Waegwan, where the Reds were assembling their largest force.

It is believed to be the most effective mass drawn from 15 Divisions—150,000 men—the Reds had shined up to the long, curling battline. And it greatly outnumbered anything the allies have to oppose them.

A Red attack down the Taejon-Taegu mountain valley corridor was expected momentarily. Tuesday is the Fifth Anniversary of the liberation of Korea from Japan. Such anniversaries are likely occasions for the Reds to launch demonstrations of force.

As the Red thousands assembled west of the Nakdong River, American troops recaptured muddy slopes on the allied eastern side of the stream from some of the 12,000 Reds who crossed the river at Changnyong, 23 miles south of Taegu.

The Communists have been trying to break out from their Nakdong river-crossing bulge for eight days. Their objective is Pusan, No. 1 Korean port in the southeast 65 miles from Taegu.

The U. S. 24th Division, moving up behind 45-ton Pershing tanks, attacked the river-crossing at dawn Monday. They showed the North Koreans back from 1,000 yards to a mile along a flaming six-mile-long sector on the allied eastern bank of the river.

Point blank, high velocity fire met the attacking Americans. Intelligence officers said the Communists had managed to get artillery and possibly some tanks over the river.

As weather cleared after rain, Navy planes, firing new 11.75-inch rockets for the first time in anger, hit the Reds. They destroyed a bridge with the new weapon and placed Communist tanks and gun positions.

At the deep south anchor of the battline, U. S. Marines took hills just outside rubble-chinju, U. S. 24th Infantry Division troops peered through the hinterland looking for a battalion of Reds cut off by the smashing American offensive of last week that practically destroyed the Red Sixth Infantry Division around Chinju.

At the other end of the 140-mile battline, American Infantry and tanks still held the U. S. airstrip six miles south of Pohang, No. 2 east coast port on the Sea of Japan. Planes no longer used the field, however.

Pohang port was in the hands of a Red Battalion but South Koreans were challenging them there at Kigye, nine miles northwest.

'Tiny Tim,' New American Rocket Is Effective In First Tests In Korea

TOKYO, Aug. 14—(P)—The "Tiny Tim," a big new American 11.75-inch rocket, was used Sunday for the first time in real combat. Results were reported good.

Fired from a carrier-based U. S. Navy Corsair fighter plane, one of the armor-piercing rockets knocked out a bridge at Chumkuk, 90 miles northwest of Taegu, in its first war test, an official announcement from General MacArthur's headquarters said.

Other Corsairs using the Tiny Tim destroyed 13 enemy locomotives, damaged 23 more, blasted eight cars of ammunition, set two fuel tankers afire and strafed seven cars loaded with Communist soldiers.

F-80 shooting star jets rocketed, bombed and machinegunned enemy troops Monday along the Nakdong battline. B-26 light bombers flew

Fighter Pilot Described Death Of Pohang Airbase In Flat, Cold Tones

By RICHARD MORIN.

TOKYO, Aug. 14—(P)—This is the story of the death of an airbase.

A fighter pilot told it in broken bits, a few words at a time and then a long silence. There was pain behind his flat cold tones.

Sometimes he called the air base "home" and then a frown wrinkled his brow. Mostly he just called it "the base."

The base is the one near Pohang which the air force abandoned in the teeth of Red attacks. It still is bombed and hands, defended by infantry and tanks.

But the planes and pilots have gone. This pilot was sorry to go.

He talked about the time they had a floor in the mess hall and the work that went into the few small comforts. "Not much comfort, I guess," he said, "but it seemed pretty good. The chow was good and you could get can of beer sometimes."

They called it "Cleveland Municipal" because so many of the men were from Cleveland.

The sign was still up, or he guessed it was, that they had painted, laughing, when the first cavalry division was due to land there.

"Welcome First Cavalry! This way to Cleveland Airport."

And the other sign—"If a medal you would win this is the place to begin." The pilot thought for a while, grinned and said, "Oh, yes, and then we had another too—'Welcome friends although you're slow—we knew you would come, you told us so.'"

A few days ago things began

Radioactive Materials Intrigue Military

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—(P)—Use of radioactive materials to make enemy territory uninhabitable by competitors—general possibilities, but the government says the only practical way of waging nuclear war as present is with atomic bombs.

A new kind of A-bombs now in production that are more effective than those which the United States dropped on Japan has come from Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) chairman of the congressional committee on atomic energy.

McMahon made a cryptic reference on the Senate floor, on show, to "nominal atomic bombs" of the old-fashioned Hiroshima and Nagasaki type.

He did not elaborate, but use of the word "nominal"—which he emphasized—added another bit to the growing evidence that A-bombs used in World War II have been far surpassed in destructiveness.

In first comprehensive official discussion of the untold art of "radiological warfare"—the technique of killing or sickening persons by poisoning nuclear fission products—contained in a government book published over the week end.

It is "The Effect of Atomic Weapons," issued by the Atomic Energy Commission. While the book was prepared primarily to advise civilian defense agencies and the public about conditions to be expected under atomic attack, it also presented a report on present or possible future uses of various types of atomic weapons.

The book covers both the advantages and handicaps of radiological warfare, commonly called "RW," and leaves some doubt about how practically the weapon might be at its present stage of development.

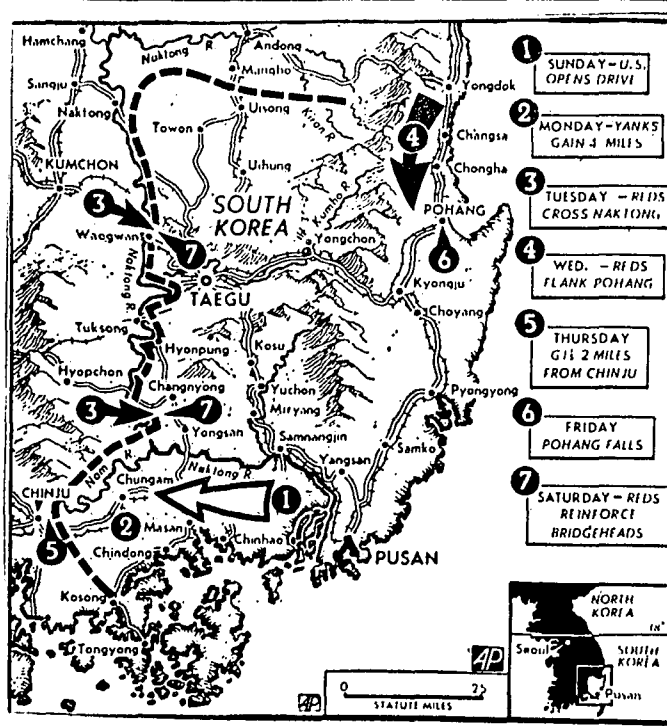

It says an advantage of the "new" A-bombs is its compactness—two pounds of one material could cause "serious harm" if spread uniformly over a limited area. But the problem would be to spread it uniformly.

One of its blizkest potentialities is psychological; it can't be seen or smelled, thus becomes a "mystery weapon" to frighten populations with the fear of unseen death.

But "RW" material can't be stockpiled like conventional munitions. It loses strength quickly and must be produced almost as used.

The government report also

Risk Calculated In Najin Bombing

By ELTON C. FAY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—(P)—The United States has given Russia a new and unmistakable token of its determination to fight the Korean war even at the risk of open Soviet intervention.

A mission of American air force superfortresses, in a strike on a North Korean city slammed down more than 500 tons of bombs so close to Russian Siberia—17 miles—that the distant rumble of the attack probably was heard across the border.

This week-end bombing mission to the North Korean port city of Najin was one of the most daring and delicate operations of the war.

The difference between putting bombs down on a North Korean target or, through accident and error in navigation, having ing them fall on Soviet territory was a matter of about five minutes flying time for a big formation maneuvering at a speed of more than three miles a minute.

But there was an even greater calculated risk. How would Russia react to the appearance of American planes, bombed and armed for combat, so close to her doorstep?

There was this to remember: On April 8, before there was any shooting war anywhere and in a different part of the world, four Russian fighters shot down a United States navy patrol plane over the waters of the open Baltic. This attack occurred more than 30 miles from the nearest Russian territory, in an area supposedly free to sea or air navigation by any nation, and was made when the United States was at war with no one.

Moscow thereafter let it be known that more action of the same kind could be expected if foreign planes got too close to its iron curtain.

Whether the reason, there was no indication that the Soviet air force reacted to the Najin mission. Information received here said nothing of the sighting by the bomber mission of non-American aircraft.

All operations in the Korean war presumably are carried by direction or approval of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Far Eastern command. It in turn receives its broad strategic directives from the joint chiefs of staff here. The joint chiefs' strategy is, of course, geared to the high overall policy defined at diplomatic level.

THE ATOM IN WAR

What about this business of using the atomic bomb? From a military standpoint the question has not yet arisen, because the bomb would not be a suitable weapon for the operation in Korea. But the question is being widely discussed as a moral matter. Would it be right to use the atomic bomb?

The question seems to rest on a premise that the morality of warfare can be gauged by the size and pace of the war. Is a little war less immoral than a big war? Our bombers and our artillery now are destroying cities and villages in Korea. Is it more right to destroy a city with a few dozen TNT bombs than with one atomic bomb? When they come to grips with enemy troops, our men shoot at others and kill as many of them as they can; they shoot with rifles, mortars, flame throwers, bazookas, cannon, or whatever else may be at hand. Is it more moral to kill men in that fashion than with an atomic explosion?

One of the lessons of World War II is that it is disastrously foolish to suppose that war can be limited at will; it is limited only by the practical facts of the situation. If we should enter a war in which our position would be wrong and immoral, no amount or restraint in our manner of fighting would lessen the immorality of it. If we should become embroiled in a war with a right and morally justified position, we should certainly not be less right if we should fight with all of the strength at our command, using every device to win and end the war.

There would be no point in making and storing the atomic bomb if we must ask ourselves whether it would be morally right to use it, should the situation arise to ponder considerations of morality.

EUROPEAN ARMS BURDEN

A plan for European sharing of the cost of arming the Atlantic Pact nations has been prepared by David Eccles of Great Britain, secretary of the Economic Commission of the Council of Europe. He would have each nation pledge a specific portion of its national income to defense, the amount to be spent under the direction of a unified command. The proportion in each case would depend on the nation's wealth, and so the figures might vary widely.

The plan sounds simple, and sensible, but some notion of the obstacles in the way of it can be had from two of Eccles' points. One is that the currency of every nation entering this agreement would have to be freely convertible with dollars. The other is that the total gold and dollar reserves of all nations would have to be available to back the currency convertibility operations. Since the United States has most of the wealth and most of the gold, we should probably wind up with most of the cost of arming the Atlantic Pact nations, no matter what plan is adopted.

It is important, for both the self-respect of the European nations and the maintenance of favorable American public opinion, that some kind of system be devised for spreading the cost of European arms as equitably as possible. It is a project of pooled interests, and its burdens also should be pooled. Americans realize the importance of strength in Europe, can see it much more clearly since the start of the Korean incident. Concrete evidence that Euro-

THE STATE DEPARTMENT

The much-attacked State Department ought to pin up on its walls the observation made nearly half a century ago by Henry Adams, of the famous Adams family and author of one of the world's great autobiographies. He wrote:

"The secretary of state has always stood as much alone as the historian. Required to look far ahead and round him, he measures forces unknown to party managers, and has found Congress more or less hostile ever since Congress first sat."

"The secretary of state exists only to recognize the existence of a world which Congress repudiates whenever it can; of bargains which Congress distrusts and tries to turn to its advantage or to reject. Since the first day the Senate existed, it has always intrigued against the secretary of state whenever the secretary has been obliged to extend its functions beyond the appointment of consuls in senators' service."

This is not to say that the State Department is always right, and Congress always wrong. Adams suggests that Congress is apt to take a short-time view of current events, while the State Department has to consider carefully the past, and peer as far ahead as possible into the future.

The Department and secretaries are not always successful, any more than Congress is always successful in its plans. It is easier to tell afterwards than before.

HELPING THE POLICE

Americans have schooled themselves to keep their noses out of other people's affairs. Most of the time people appreciate this, but occasionally a little interference would be more than welcome. On one recent afternoon one of the larger cities reported two incidents in which pickpockets were caught in the act of plying their trade, but escaped because not enough assistance was forthcoming from bystanders to hold them until the arrival of police. Two such made an unusual afternoon, but single incidents of that nature are common.

Probably it is not physical fright which makes crowds permit the escape of pickpockets, sneak thieves and the like, for in such cases the fugitive is obviously greatly outnumbered. More likely is a fear of becoming involved in a troublesome situation. Or it may only be that Americans, accustomed to living without fears of other people or other thought of physical peril, react too slowly to situations calling for quick action to restrain an individual from flight.

Whatever the reason may be, police know that they are likely to get scant help from passers-by in nabbing a law-breaker. This is one of the reasons why common thieves operate with confidence; it is fairly easy to keep track of policemen, and the citizens in general are not potential foes, only potential victims.

Operators of power boats should be required to have driver's license, a high Coast Guard officer says. It's a good idea, but wouldn't be very helpful unless the qualifications were higher than those for automobile drivers in some states. All drivers, a wheel or afloat, should be required to carry licenses that mean something both in skill and in responsibility.

RECENT BRIDE—Miss Elizabeth Videlle Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hopkins, became the bride of Earl McDaniel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McDaniel, Sr., of Richland, the morning of July 31 in a double ring ceremony at the Oak Lawn Baptist Church, Dallas. The Rev. C. R. McDaniel was the officiating clergyman. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hayes, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, attended the couple. The bride wore a frock combining a white linen bodice, white organza skirt, a portrait collar and tiny, cuffed sleeves. Brown eyelet embroidery trimmed the skirt. Her accessories were a brown and white plique hat and brown reptile slippers, and she carried a white orchid atop a white Bible. Mrs. Hayes chose a white sharkskin suit, black shoes and hat and white gloves. She wore a gardenia corsage. Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Houston, Galveston and San Antonio and other points. She traveled in a white linen suit, navy blue and white spectator pumps and other navy blue accessories. After a short stay in Corsicana, the couple will make their home in Richland. The bride is a graduate of Corsicana High School. Her husband, after graduating from Richland High School, attended Arlington State College. (Keeling Studio Photo).

Navarro County Road Construction Being Pushed To Early Completion

Current hot dry weather is welcomed by contractors engaged in farm-market road construction and repairs on existing highways and roads in Navarro County.

Work is in progress on a number of projects at the present time and contracts for additional construction is slated later in the summer and early fall.

In addition to the new and additional improvements, the customary summer campaign for putting highways and county roads in good condition for the fall business and winter use is in progress. The four county commissioners have their dirt roads in excellent condition in most sections. The state highway maintenance department is doing likewise with the highways and farm-market roads.

The Dawson-Emmett farm-market road is estimated to be 60 per cent complete. This road connects Highway 31 at Dawson with the present farm-market road at Emmett from a point west of Frost on Highway 22. The road will form a loop from Frost to Dawson via Emmett, Brushy Prairie and Spring Hill.

The grading from Emmett to Dawson is almost completed and mixed asphalt and soil for surfacing Emmett to Brushy Prairie has been prepared, according to an announcement.

The hauling of the base material from Emmett to Brushy is in progress and the grading is 90 per cent complete. Bridges on that section are expected to be finished next week.

Bridge structures from Brushy Prairie to Dawson are complete with the exception of a concrete unit spanning Wolf creek and the reconstruction and repairing of the present structure crossing Richland and between Brushy Prairie and Spring Hill.

An 1800-foot concrete slab 18-feet wide will be poured on the floodway in Richland creek bottom north of the crossing to care for the overflows.

The grading is finished and the soil asphalt surface base has been mixed to Brushy Prairie and has been hauled from Dawson to Richland creek.

The Emhouse-Cryer Creek-Barry farm-market road, connecting Highway 22 at Barry with the Emhouse road is estimated 75 per cent complete. E. W. Hable and Sons holds this contract as well as the Dawson-Emmett and the Elm Flat job that has not been started.

The grading from Emhouse to Barry is 75 per cent complete as is the concrete bridge structures and culverts. This will be surfaced with the next future.

The Elm Flat contract begins on Highway 31 east of Powell and proceeds south and east to connect with State Highway 309 south of Kenedy.

Excellent progress is reported in Farm-Market Road 1129—the Powell-Roane-Montfort-Chatfield road. The contractor is using five-ton trucks instead of the 10-tonners employed earlier on the job and is meeting with better success.

The gravel has been hauled on the spur from Montfort to the main road and from Highway 31 west of Powell north to a point three miles from the starting place.

Engineers have submitted plans to the highway commission for the continuance of this road to Graves creek near and northeast of Chatfield. It is understood that a similar to the ones ordinarily constructed will be provided from the main road to Chatfield.

Surveys have been completed and plans and specifications are being made for the five-mile farm-market lateral beginning in Richland and extending southwest into the Pishah Ridge community.

The Worth Construction Company of Fort Worth has the contract for the widening of Highway 31 through Kerans. The present 20-foot pavement will be widened to 52 feet, including curb and gutter, for a distance of 3,300 feet, making this street the same dimensions as East Seventh Avenue in Corsicana. This work is scheduled to be started not later than September 1.

Widening of the bridges on Highway 70 between Corsicana and Ennis is slated to be completed not later than September 1. The pavement was widened last year. A 45-mile-per-hour speed limit is in vogue on the highway from Ennis to Corsicana.

Glider Seen At Navarro Friday

Ray Parker, 29 Palms, Fla., gliding and coasting star, participating in the 17th annual soaring contest this week-end at Grand Prairie, appeared over Corsicana and Navarro on Friday afternoon. He returned toward the NTAC Air Field after receiving a signal from W. D. Boone at the Municipal airport southwest of Corsicana.

Parker was over Corsicana Thursday afternoon a short time later, but no one saw him at the local airports.

Simmons Family In Reunion At Willow Springs

The not-to-be-denied urge of kin to give with kin, to honor forebears, to share childhood memories, swap politics and crop talk brought about 136 relatives and friends Sunday at Willow Springs. In annual reunion the Simmons family gathered under a grove of trees near a running spring of water which has never been known to go dry.

Benches were scattered over the area, and the entire morning was spent in conversation and get-acquainted activities. Many had come from long distances to be present.

A bountiful noon dinner was spread, including fried chicken, potato salad, cole slaw, vegetable dishes, cakes, pies and iced tea. Tubs of bottled drinks were there also.

In the afternoon Judge Royall R. Watkins of Dallas was speaker, giving glowing tributes to the late John K. Simmons, Judge U. L. Faulk, Ed Richardson and Judge A. B. Watkins, his father. He mentioned the good times they had enjoyed in that community and the hospitality extended visitors to the home of John K. Simmons, whom he described as a man without pretense. He told of the friendly spirit of people of the pioneer's era, the neighborliness and friendliness.

After his address, many of those present drove to the nearby cemetery.

The group voted to meet again the first Sunday in August, 1951. Towns represented were Luling, Fort Worth, Athens, Cross Roads, Beck's Chapel, Malakoff, Moran, Roscoe, Dallas, Houston and Mabank.

Understand Your Illness

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

If you don't completely understand what the doctor means when he explains your illness, ask him to tell you again, or better than that, learn a little more about it each time you make a call.

When you fully appreciate what the doctor is trying to accomplish you will naturally become more co-operative, and just that concentrated effort to overcome illness will go far towards making you better.

Medicine is usually an important part of treatment. You will want the very best in drugs, accurately compounded, so take your prescription to a pharmacist you know will give that service.

This is the 253rd of a series of editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each Monday and Tuesday.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO ELECTION OFFICIALS

You should bear in mind that there is a law in effect requiring that your returns be phoned in immediately after the polls are closed and the count completed. Your co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

I will make my headquarters at the Daily Sun office the night of the election.

She was about seven. She wore a pink playsuit, and her eyes sparkled behind spectacles with blond rims—the color of her hair.

Suddenly, half dancing, she skipped across the room to a woman sitting in one of the big leather chairs.

Navarro County Gins Now Ready For Cotton; Two Bales Already Produced

By CLYDE JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

Navarro county gins are oiled up and waiting for the cotton. But it'll be several weeks before full-blown operation is under way.

Much of the county's cotton is late this year.

The first 1950 bale, produced by E. R. Prince and ginned in Corsicana Friday morning, came eight days later than last year's first bale—and a week or so sooner than observers had forecast.

Shortly after Prince's 694-pound bale rolled out of the compress at the A. G. Smith gin, a Cryer Creek farmer pulled into the yards with a load. When advised he would get no premium, the farmer turned around and headed for Blooming Grove.

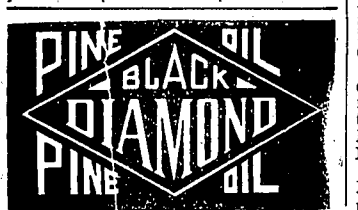

"I'll get a premium there", he advised Smith.

As yet, Prince has received no premium for his first bale.

The Chamber of Commerce discussed the idea, its agricultural committee recommended one, but no action was ever taken.

The Cryer Creek farmer's identity was unknown, but he and Prince produced the county's first two 1950 bales. These were the only ones reported ginned last week.

Navarro county ranks high in cotton boll weevil infestation. Inspections show an average of 38 per cent punctured squares.

Emhouse Finished Season Without Loss In Navarro-Limestone Loop

HELLO FOLKS—Pictured above is Susan Anne Mizelle, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mizelle, 1502 Gillespie avenue, Albany, Georgia. The grandparents are Mrs. Nora K. Seay and T. J. Seay of Corsicana, and Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Mizelle, Valdosta, Georgia. Mrs. Mizelle is the former Miss Mary Love Seay of Corsicana and a 1944 CHS graduate. J. C. Mizelle was at one time stationed at Corsicana Field with the Air Force.

Emhouse took a 4-3 decision from the Corsicana Cotton Mill baseball team Sunday afternoon to end the regular league season undefeated and at the top of the standings in the Navarro-Limestone loop.

Emhouse's prime spot will do them little good, however. Manager Chad Sneed said Monday that "we will not enter the league playoffs." He gave as his reason the fact that his team is entered in the Central Texas Semipro tournament in Waco, and that the playoffs would hamper Emhouse's chances of repeating as champion of the Waco tournament.

Prexy E. M. Allen of Richland has not announced his plans for the Navarro-Limestone playoffs, but last week there were indications that the playoffs might be held in either Corsicana or Waco, because of possible better attendance, and because of the fact that the volume of games necessitate playing at night.

Allen said Monday, however, that he favored staging the playoffs at the various home diamonds. Since Emhouse does not plan to enter, the top four teams would be the Corsicana teams, Corsicana Cotton Mill and Richland.

In other games Sunday afternoon, the Mexia Gushers nosed out the Mexia Cats, 9-8, while Rice was getting a forfeit from the Corsicana Merchants.

Richland and Pursley were rained out at the end of the seventh frame in Pursley, with the score tied at 6-6.

to go had. Korean Reds appeared in force, attacking the plane, slipped into the hills, the pilot said. "Couldn't tell who had the town. Some said we did. Some said the folks did. You couldn't tell." And the pilots began hearing bullets from the hills as they landed or took off.

"So we dug in. Just like the infantry. In foxholes about 25 feet apart. We had carbines and pistols and a few shotguns. Soviet burp guns (automatic rifles).

"Had everybody in the foxholes too—mechanics, pilots, KPs and the CO."

He smiled a little when he remembered "the alarm." They heard a sharp crackling noise inside the camp area and saw bright flashes.

"Hell, we all hit the dirt just like the G.I.s. Then one of you guys, some correspondent, got up to look and said it was just a couple of live electric wires 'saying in the wind and touching."

"You know, you guys write a lot of tear jerkers about poor Korean refugees. Well, you can have them."

"Some refugees passed the camp after the fighting started in Pohang. From the front we began hearing bullets from the rear. Search them? Sure, we searched them and they were clean as hell."

"They had their weapons stacked away in the back of the camp. Your poor Korean refugees?"

Then the day came when they were ordered to evacuate. The pilot paused for a long time before he finished his story.

"You couldn't go back through the glasses by that time. So we started to move. It was just like a state-side move. No hurry. No sweat. The C-47s (transport planes) landed. We got out of the camp and took off. The place looked bare when the tents came down."

"I guess we will go back there sooner or later. Sure, we will seem good to get home again."

CONTROLS

bill which the house passed and which appears to face smooth sailing in the Senate, would give him authority for use to control prices and wages and impose rationing.

Allen contended that Truman has been elected in the November elections and has been elected in leaving the American people in the dark about the gravity of the world situation.

"Can we wait until after the November elections to tell the people of America the truth? Can we place votes first?"

Truman has said that if congress gives him wage-price-rationing powers, he would like to have a free hand to invoke them. But he says he sees no need for those controls now.

The president also has said he does not ask for such authority because he did not want to touch a controversy in congress which would delay action on the other controls powers he wants quickly.

Other powers would let the president allocate scarce industrial materials, require priority attention to defense contracts, take over privately owned plants when necessary, and control credit.

The Senate resumed debate on the bill today, with the major point of issue an amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) which would reserve to congress the right to say whether there are any price-rationing controls should go into effect. The bill would give Mr. Truman that right.

Several republican senators already have voted against the Taft plan. Administration leaders have predicted it will be defeated and that the bill will be approved overwhelmingly with only minor amendments.

Present prospects are there will be no voting on amendments or the bill itself before Friday.

A call for immediate controls on prices and wages was necessary—came over the week-end from Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.).

The Texas said such action must be taken because price increases are eating up the purchasing power of the last six weeks' goods during the purchasing power of our defense dollars by as much as 50 per cent in some cases."

Members of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said that group has been told by the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force that sharply climbing prices are the major problem in planning at this time. Johnson said:

"If the prices on defense items are not brought under control, the national taxpayer will suffer seriously and unnecessarily. At the present rate, it is entirely possible that the $10,000,000,000 worth of goods during the last two weeks ago will be worth only $5,000,000,000 worth of fighting equipment."

RUTH ELAINE FOSTER AND CHARLES ALBERT BITTNER EXCHANGE VOWS THURSDAY

Miss Ruth Elaine Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Foster, and Charles Albert Bittner, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bittner, exchanged nuptial vows Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at First Baptist church with Dr. J. C. Carlisle of Waco, but formerly of Corsicana, officiating. A double ring service was read.

Miss Marilyn Moore and Mrs. Dan Roberts were honor attendants for the bride. Bridesmaids were Misses Jo Ann Bignon and Jo Anne Edmon.

Robert Bittner served his bride as best man. Groomsman and ushers were Pat Patrick, Harvey Helms, Daniel McLeod and Richard Cummings of Rice.

Young David Foster, brother of the bride, was ring-bearer. The wedding ceremony was carried out in large altar arrangements of pink asters and gladioli centered by a fan-shaped array of pink carnations, asters and gladioli. Their pastoral beauty was heightened by greenery in the background. Pale pink tapers burned in candelabra, and tall white vases were held in floor candle holders. Sprays of foliage were looped into wide bows of pink satin ribbon to mark the pews.

Mr. Foster gave his daughter in marriage. Her period gown of white slipper satin with shaped bodice, sheer yoke outlined with a deep bias fold of satin, and high rounded neckline, had long sleeves fastened by tiny self-covered buttons to the elbow. Buttoned to the back to the waist, the frock had a wide-spreading skirt which swept into a train. Her shoulder and waist were draped in a full, flowing, light-colored fabric. The waist in place by a dainty bonnet of illusion. She wore pearls and carried an orchid-centered bridal arrangement of stephanotis.

The bride's attendants appeared in dresses fashioned of pink lace over pink taffeta. The closely fitted bodices over hoops. Their high, circular necklines were accented by pearl chokers. Their short gloves were lace, and their little headresses of maline and pink blossoms were shaped by pink velvet tubing. They carried round arrangements of angel lilies and pink carnations with pink satin streamers.

Wearing a white linen suit, the ring-bearer carried the wedding circlets on a white satin pillow. Mrs. Foster, mother of the bride, was gowned in coralline lace over taffeta while Mrs. Bittner, mother of the bridegroom, chose a tawny lace dress. They wore circular hats of veiling and orchid corsages.

The newly married couple, their parents and bridal attendants formed a receiving line in the church's Fellowship Hall for the wedding reception.

"O Promise Me" and "Because" were the pre-nuptial selections of Miss Zelma McNeil, soloist, who was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Sidney Brizet. The traditional wedding marches also were played by Mrs. Brizet.

Navarro County's First Cotton Is Ginned Today

Navarro county's first cotton bale was ginned about 10:30 a. m. Friday at the G. Smith gin on East Fifth Ave.

Weighing 604 pounds, the bale was brought in by E. R. Prince, who farms on the Fairchild place at the edge of Corsicana. The bale was from 1800 pounds of seed cotton.

Smith said he hadn't sold the bale yet and hoped to get a premium for Prince.

Agriculturalist had predicted the county's first bale for about August 20.

Sprays of foliage were looped into wide bows of pink satin ribbon to mark the pews.

Mr. Foster gave his daughter in marriage. Her period gown of white slipper satin with shaped bodice, sheer yoke outlined with a deep bias fold of satin, and high rounded neckline, had long sleeves fastened by tiny self-covered buttons to the elbow. Buttoned to the back to the waist, the frock had a wide-spreading skirt which swept into a train. Her shoulder and waist were draped in a full, flowing, light-colored fabric. The waist in place by a dainty bonnet of illusion. She wore pearls and carried an orchid-centered bridal arrangement of stephanotis.

The bride's attendants appeared in dresses fashioned of pink lace over pink taffeta. The closely fitted bodices over hoops. Their high, circular necklines were accented by pearl chokers. Their short gloves were lace, and their little headresses of maline and pink blossoms were shaped by pink velvet tubing. They carried round arrangements of angel lilies and pink carnations with pink satin streamers.

Wearing a white linen suit, the ring-bearer carried the wedding circlets on a white satin pillow. Mrs. Foster, mother of the bride, was gowned in coralline lace over taffeta while Mrs. Bittner, mother of the bridegroom, chose a tawny lace dress. They wore circular hats of veiling and orchid corsages.

The newly married couple, their parents and bridal attendants formed a receiving line in the church's Fellowship Hall for the wedding reception.

More Tests Made Of Water Wells In Rice Sector

Unable to determine how arsenic found its way into a water well at Rice, Sheriff David Castles today said samples have been taken at two other wells in the vicinity and have been sent to the state health department at Austin to be analyzed.

Sheriff Castles said he was under the impression that someone had covered an old well which drew water from the same aqueous sands which fed the well at Rice, and somehow put poison into the sands. He said the arsenic might then have entered the Rice well.

The sheriff said there was no explanation for the presence of the poison. The lid on the well, he said, is made of heavy wood and is covered with tin. There was no evidence that the lid had been tampered with.

"Part of the tin is welded together, and hasn't been broken loose," said Castles. "And there is rust on the nailheads, extending over into the tin. If the well had been opened by someone who wanted to drop arsenic into the water, the well top would have shown it."

Referring to his theory that the poison might have seeped into the well, Castles said:

"I don't know it for certain, but I understand arsenic will travel a long way through the sand. That may be the way it got into the well water at the Rice cotton gin."

Eleven persons became ill after drinking water from this well and Jeanene Leach, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Leach, later died. Seven members of the Leach family were hospitalized in Corsicana after becoming ill, and four other persons who drank from the well also suffered ill effects.

J. B. Portson, the gin owner, said the well had been providing good, pure water for 40 years and that this was the first time anyone had suffered any ill effects from the well water.

Officials from the Corsicana-Navarro Health Unit have sealed the well.

Official Staff Is Installed By American Legion

Officers of the Johnson-Wiggins American Legion post were installed at a meeting held in the City Hall Thursday night. The post also passed on several matters which included the city's sanitation program, membership fees, methods of raising money for finances, and heard a report on the post's new building. W. H. Smith was the installing officer.

The Legion post passed a motion favoring enforcement of the city's sanitary ordinances and authorized the post commander to appoint a committee to attend to the city's sanitation program. The post also stated it was willing to back the commission in its actions to enforce the sanitary code.

Joe Dan reported on the resolution passed by the post at its last meeting wherein the post recommended draft board members be ex-servicemen. He said the resolution had the endorsement of the state departments of the Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans. He also said the resolution had been forwarded to Selective Service headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Smith reported on the new building and said it was coming along in good shape but was being held up at the present because of lack of materials. He said some minor changes would have to be made in the structure.

A motion to purchase 500 packages of cigarettes at about six cents per package was approved. These cigarettes are to be given to patients at the veterans hospital at Marlin and opens in about six weeks. Half of the money needed was collected at the meeting.

The post voted to raise its membership fee from $4 to $5. A motion to purchase a new flag was approved and the adjutant, W. H. Smith, was authorized to sign a contract with Hable with the surgeon general's okay is received.

Construction of the access roads will require approximately two weeks, reported H. R. Stroube, who told the court that foundation work on the new structure west of Corsicana is "getting along fine."

The access roads will run north from West Second Avenue (State Home road) to the hospital, and south from Highway 22 to the hospital.

At the special commissioners' meeting, held at 10 a. m. the court also approved Mrs. Minnie Cooper as deputy district clerk (at no cost to the county) while Clerk J. C. Gaston is attending National Guard camp for two weeks, starting August 20.

Jacobs was named chairman of the legal committee, and Smith and Daniel were named co-chairmen of the building committee.

Retiring Committee

The post members for their co-operation during the past year and said he hoped the same kind of co-operation would be extended to the new committee.

The outgoing adjutant, R. R. Pease, also expressed his thanks for assistance rendered and said the post had a membership of 366. The adjutant, H. R. Jones, said he hoped the 1950-51 year would be one of the best for the Legion and added that he hoped all members would co-operate to make the post one of the best of the state.

Commr. Jones said he announced other appointments at a future date.

Wildlife's Relationship With Soil Conservation Stressed At Meeting

How wildlife can be restored through proper land use was the topic for Thursday night's meeting of the Navarro County Agricultural Workers' Association.

"If we have good land use and good conservation, we'll automatically benefit our wildlife—and have the right kind of habitat for game," declared C. C. (Shorty) Carlton, district soil conservationist at Bryan.

Carlton emphasized the relationship between wildlife and soil conservation and proved his point by exhibiting photographic evidence of the destructive erosion of gulches, erosion control and proper plantings will bring about wildlife, he said, showing "before and after" pictures.

A film was shown later, stressing further the speaker's topic. The movie briefly traced the history of American wildlife from the early pioneer days of plentiful game to the destructive erosion of the great west—where the nation's vast resources were wasted.

Work of the Soil Conservation Service then was explained. Carlton advised that ponds should be stocked with bluegill, bass and possibly some channel cat, but he recommended that crappie and other sun fish not be used. Commercial fertilizer, he said, increases the productivity of the pond, but application of this shouldn't continue when "you can't see your hand a foot or so under the water." Clean water indicates the need of fertilizer, he said.

One thing he said that was hard to believe is that overstocking of a pond can cause "poor" fishing. The speaker was introduced by Jack Everheart, who was program chairman. Curtis Henderson presided.

Guests at the Navarro Hotel dinner-meeting were County Judge Joe D. Huffstutler and William Thorpe, of Chatfield.

FMA Secretary Bob Clieque urged the group to spread the word that farmers who haven't taken any action on their excessive cotton acreage may experience difficulty in securing their marketing cards, which will be needed in the near future.

Clieque also announced that purchase orders for vetch may be issued starting on September 1. Recommendations for the winter legume program in Navarro county are being prepared by a committee and will be made public within the next few days, it was announced by W. H. Warner, county agent.

The association voted to hold future meetings at 7:30 p. m. instead of 8 p. m. The next session will be Sept. 14.
